February 24, 1951 - May 6, 2020

Randall "Randy" H. Brown, 69, of Stewartstown passed away Wednesday, May 6, 2020 at his home after a two-year battle with cancer. He was the husband of Regina "Jeanie" A. (McClung) Brown, to whom he was married 38 years.

“ Randy was liked by all who knew him at James Madison High School. He was always friendly and kind to one and all. I remember Dave, as well and they are both respected in my memories.

I am glad that Randy was a believer and is finding joy and peace, where he is forevermore, even though it must have been hard to leave behind the ones he loved.

I am keeping his family, and others who miss him dearly, in my prayers.

“ Forty-five years ago my brother-in-law's sharp wit saved me from myself as I struggled to plan a March wedding. With few choices for bridesmaid dresses, I ended up with one that was paired with a dark green tux. When I told Randy about my reservations, he said, "Don't worry about it; I'll wear tree bark if you want." His wit saved us all at one time or another.

“ This is so heartbreaking to hear this...I just found out today and my heart aches for the family because I, too am grieving the loss of my husband to this dreadful disease. Randy was the joy of our block parties-his humor and laughter were unforgettable...Rest in peace, neighbor. You and Jay-together again laughing together in heaven...my condolences to Jeanie and family...

“ I was very saddened to hear about Randy's passing. What great times we had coaching soccer together. Jeanie, Colin, and of course Alison, I pray that God gives you peace and comfort during this sorrowful time.

“ Jeanie, Colin And Alison,
To say I'm sorry doesn't even come close to what I'm feeling for you all. You know how, as you go through life you meet people, some stay, some go and then there are the ones that you can go years without seeing but you just know that they are there. They are the "constants". The Brown family was one of my constants. Didn't see Randy too often but when I did it was always with a big hug and a huge smile and a wonderful feeling of comfort. And that mustache! He will be missed.
Will be keeping you all in my thoughts, heart and prayers!
Love,
